AN OPEN LETTER... To Bobby Kennedy, Brother of President—

Dear Bobby:

I've been so busy trying to promote the welfare of a town in South Alabama named Elba, that I have not had time to write to you, brother. I am sure you are as busy as I am, but I feel that the people in the United States are more broad-minded now than when your grandpappy came to Boston and there were still signs in some places which read: "No Irish Allowed."

These were the days when places like Lowell, Longfellow and Alcott were famous in Boston and there were still people who remembered a famous "Freedom Rider" named Paul Revere. Were they more broad-minded or less broad-minded than the politicians who run Boston now?

Okay! Let's assume that the Adamses, the Cabots and the Lodges of a hundred years ago were less broad-minded than those who first elected your brother to Congress which, I believe, was about the time a famous Irish mayor of Boston was convicted of using the U. S. mails to defraud and was sentenced to federal prison. The Boston politicians ran-rod a bill through the Massachusetts legislature to provide that he receive his mayor's salary while in jail, is that what you mean by being broad-minded?

Then when this self-same mayor returned home from prison he was met at the railroad station by a bigger crowd than that which greeted Lincoln after he had flown the Atlantic, and given a far more tumultuous welcome. Is that what you mean by being broad-minded?

I have been on the receiving end of the broad-mindedness exhibited by the people who started the grandson of your grandpappy to the presidency. I was editor of a daily newspaper in upstate New York where the population make-up is similar to that in Boston. I can tell you that Southern white people show ten times more respect and kindness towards the Negro than your people showed towards my family and me. They made it plain that written signs that we were not wanted by them.

You were quick to recall your Irish ancestry so, I am sure, I will not be any less broad-minded to continue the discussion. As most people know, there are really two Irelands. The six Northern counties are independent of the government at Dublin which calls itself Eire. The six counties of Northern Ireland have one-third the population and two-thirds the wealth of the Emerald Isle. They do not want to become a part of Eire because they know that, if they do, their prosperity will disappear.

What kind of people live in Eire? Their conduct in World War II tells the story. They refused to join England's fight against Hitlerism. "We're a poor country and can't afford the devastation of war," they said.

England and Germany fought each other and tore up each other's cities. Yet 15 years after the war, both England and Germany had rebuilt their cities and brought back prosperity. Eire continues to wallow in filth, lack of schooling, and above all, self-hatred.

The Declaration of Independence, the American Constitution with its guarantees of freedom, and separation of church and state, had all been accomplished before the potato famine in Eire sent your grandpappy and tens of thousands of other countrymen to America.

And when they arrived here, did they become builders like the Germans and Scandinavians who made the Midwest bloom, or the English and immigrants from Wales and Northern Ireland who cut and hacked a new country in the wilderness of Plymouth Rock, Jamestown and Birmingham? No! Immigrants from Eire settled in big cities like Boston, New York and Chicago where they established political machines which have not yet produced a single statesman, and are so perfectly described by the great American writer Thomas Wolfe in his book "Time and the River."

I regret that I am driven to these comments, but it was you who brought up the subject of your ancestors and compared their broad-mindedness with that of the pioneers who built this country, many of whom like Andrew Jackson, had forebears who came from Northern Ireland of which Eire is so envious.

No, I will not pursue the subject further because I think I have sufficiently answered your slur directed at the pioneers who built this country. I will simply conclude with the comment that it is true that the Boston of today is more broad-minded than the Boston of a hundred years ago, then it is time that Webster's dictionary is rewritten to the same extent that American history has been rewritten in textbooks used in most schools in Boston.

Sincerely,
 The Manager.

FROM OUR EARLY FILES...

Exercises marking the end of the school term were held in the High School auditorium. Members of the graduating class had charge of the program. Theme for the evening was "Youth and the Community." Dr. L. G. Cleveland, president of Indiana College, Marion, delivered the baccalaureate to a large congregation.

Rev. C. H. Seibert gave the invocation and Rev. J. A. Timmerman read the scripture lesson and pronounced the benediction.

Mrs. Julia Riley of Hollywood, Fla., spent the week in Elba with her sister, Mrs. Wesley Harris.

Baptist Organists Are Honored With Informal Tea

Misses Ella Kate Allen and Janet Ward Organists of the First Baptist Church, were honored following prayer meet.

Big Westerns evening by members of the choir who were hosts at an informal tea.

The honorees have recently graduated from Elba High School. Ella Kate has already entered Troy State College and Janet will go to Ballins College in Bristol, Va., in September.

Dr. Southland, Interim pastor, and James Martin, choir director, paid verbal tribute to the loyalty and efficiency of the organists. Mrs. J. W. Kendrick presented each of the honorees a white Bible as a gift from the choir.

The refreshment table in the social hall was centered with a crystal punch service, encircled with shasta daisies, queen Anne's lace and lily fern. Silver trays of party dainties completed the table appointments.

Mrs. G. P. Miles and Mrs. Carl Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McDaniel, presided.

The honorees responded with words of appreciation.

Two Elba Girls Go To Girls State At Montgomery

Polly Ann Clark and Tulah Davis left Sunday to represent Elba and Girls' State at Huntington College in Montgomery.

Both will be seniors in Elba High School next term. They are members of the Beta Club and are leaders in other activities.

Polly Ann Clark is the daughter of Mrs. Ruby Bryan Clark and the late Mr. Gordon Clark. Tulah's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Davis.

Polly Ann is a candidate for Lt. Governor and Tulah for State Auditor. With their sponsor, Mrs. Ruth Hawkins, they were interviewed on Station WELB Saturday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins accompanied the girls to Montgomery.

Entertain Visitors From Florida With Cook-Out

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Taylor entertained at a cook-out for visiting relatives from Cuba and Florida, Tuesday evening, June 6.

Those enjoying the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark and sons, Frankie and Steve, of Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Taylor and sons, Jerry and Stan, of Orlan, do, Florida. Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Taylor, Mrs. Mary Dowling, and Kaye Stephens enjoyed the evening with the host and hostess and their daughters, Marilyn and Paula.

The artificial insemination program now includes nearly a third of the cows in the United States.
